The Chronicle Hiſtorie

of Henry the fift: with his battell fought at Agin Court in France. Togither with Ancient Piſtoll.

Enter King Henry, Exeter, two Biſhops, Clarence, and other Attendants.

Exeter.

SHall I call in th'Ambaſſadors my Liege?

King. Not yet my couſin, till we be reſolu'd
Of ſome ſerious matters touching vs and France.

Byſh. God and his Angels guard your ſacred throne,
And make you long become it.

King. Sure we thanke you: and good my Lord proceed
Why the Law Salique which they haue in France,
Or ſhould or ſhould not ſtop in vs our claime:
And God forbid my wiſe and learned Lord,
That you ſhould faſhion, frame, or wreſt the ſame.
For God doth know how many now in health,
Shall drop their blood, in approbation
Of what your reuerence ſhall incite vs too.
Therefore take heede how you impawne our perſon,
How you awake the ſleeping ſword of warre:
We charge you in the name of God take heede.
After this coniuration, ſpeake my Lord:
And we will iudge, note, and beleeue in heart,
That what you ſpeake, is waſht as pure
As ſin in baptiſme.

Biſh. Then heare me gracious Soueraigne, & you Peeres,
Which owe your liues, your faith, and ſeruices
To this imperiall Throne:
There is no bar to ſtay your highneſſe claime to France,
But one; which they produce from Faramount:
No female ſhall ſucceed in Salique Land;
Which Salique Land, the French vniuſtly gloze
To be the Realme of France,
And Faramount the founder of this law and female barre.
Yet their owne writers faithfully affirme,
That the Land Salique lyes in Germany,
Betweene the floods of Sabeck and of Elme,
Where Charles the fift hauing ſubdude the Saxons
There left behinde, and ſetled certaine French,
Who holding in diſdaine the Germane women,
For ſome diſhoneſt manners of their liues,
Eſtabliſht there this Law. To wit,
No female ſhall ſucceed in Salique Land:
Which Salique land (as I haue ſayd before)
Is at this time in Germany, call'd Meſene.
Thus doth it well appeare, the Salique law
Was not deuiſed for the Realme of France:
Nor did the French poſſeſſe the Salique land,
Vntill foure hundred one and twenty yeares
After the function of King Faramount,
Godly ſuppoſd the founder of this Law.
Hugh Capet alſo that vſurpt the Crowne,
To fine his Title with ſome ſhew of truth,
When in pure truth it was corrupt and nought:
Conuey'd himſelfe as heire to the Lady Inger,
Daughter to Charles the foreſayd Duke of Lorain,
So that as cleere as is the ſummers Sun,
King Pipins Title, and Hugh Capets claime,
King Charles his ſatisfaction, all appeare
To hold in right and title of the female:
So do the Lords of France vntill this day,
Howbeit they would hold vp this Salique Law

To barre your highneſſe claiming from the female,
And rather chooſe to hide them in a net,
Then amply to embrace their crooked cauſes,
Vſurpt from you and your progenitors.
K. May we with right and conſcience make this claime?
Bi. The ſin vpon my head dread Soueraigne:
For in the booke of Numbers it is writ,
When the ſonne dyes, let the inheritance
Deſcend vnto the daughter.
Noble Lord, ſtand for your owne,
Vnwinde your bloody flagge,
Go my dread Lord to your great Grandſires graue,
From whom you claime:
And your great Vnckle Edward the blacke Prince,
Who on the French ground playd a Tragedy,
Making defeate on the full power of France,
Whilſt his moſt mighty father on a hill,
Stood ſmiling to behold his Lyons whelpe,
Foraging the blood of French Nobility.
O Noble Engliſh, that could entertaine
With halfe their forces the full power of France:
And let another halfe ſtand laughing by,
All out of worke, and colde for action.
King. We muſt not onely arme vs gainſt the French,
But lay downe our proportion for the Scot,
Who will make rode vpon vs with all aduantages.
Bi. The Marches gracious ſoueraigne, ſhalbe ſufficient
To guard your England from the pilfering borderers.
King. We do not meane the courſing ſneakers onely,
But feare the maine entendment of the Scot:
For you ſhall read, neuer my great Grandfather
Vnmaskt his power for France,
But that the Scot on his vnfurniſht kingdome,
Came pouring like the tide into a breach,
That England being empty of defences,
Hath ſhooke and trembled at the bruit heereof.
Biſh. She hath bin then more fear'd then hurt my Lord:

For heare her but examplified by her ſelfe,
When all her chiualry hath bene in France,
And ſhe a mourning widdow of her Nobles,
She hath her ſelfe not onely well defended,
But taken and impounded (as a ſtray) the King of Scottes,
VVhom like a cayt iffe ſhe did leade to France,
Filling your Chronicles as rich with praiſe,
As is the owſe and bottome of the ſea,
VVith ſunken wracke, and ſhipleſſe treaſurie.

Lord. There is a ſaying very old and true.
If you will France win,
Then with Scotland firſt begin:
For once the Eagle England being in pray,
To his vnfurniſht Neſt the weazle Scot
VVould ſucke her Egges,
Playing the Mouſe in abſence of the Cat,
To ſpoyle and hauocke more then ſhe can eat.

Exe. It followes then, the Cat muſt ſtay at home,
Yet that is but a curſt neceſſity,
Since we haue traps to catch the petty theeues:
VVhilſt that the armed hand doth fight abroad,
The aduiſed head controlles at home:
For gouernment though high or low, being put in parts,
Congrueth with a mutuall conſent like muſicke.

Biſh. True, therefore doth heauen
Diuide the fate of man in diuers functions:
VVhereto is added as an ayme or But, Obedience:
For ſo liue the hony bees, creatures that by awe
Ordaine an act of order to a peopled Kingdome.
They haue a King, and Officers of ſort;
Where ſome like Magiſtrates correct at home:
Others, like Merchants venture Trade abroad:
Others, like ſoldiours armed in their ſtings,
Make boot vpon the ſommers Veluet bud:
VVhich pillage they with merry march bring home
To the Tent-royall of their Emperor;
Who buſied in his maieſty, behold

The ſinging Maſons building roofes of Gold,
The ciuill Citizens lading vp the hony,
The ſad-ey'd Iuſtice with his ſurly humme,
Deliuering vp to executors pale, the lazie caning drone,
This I inferre, that twenty actions once a foote,
May all end in one moment.
As many arrowes loſed ſeuerall wayes, fly to one marke:
As many ſeuerall wayes meete in one Towne:
As many freſh ſtreames run in one ſelfe-ſea:
As many lines cloſe in the diall center:
So may a thouſand actions once a foote,
End in one moment, and be all well born without defect.
Therefore my Liege to France,
Diuide your happy England into foure,
Of which take you one quarter into France,
And you withall, ſhall make all Gallia ſhake.
If we with thrice that power left at home,
Cannot defend our owne doore from the dogge.
Let vs be beaten, and from henceforth loſe
The name of policy and hardineſſe.

Kin. Call in the meſſenger ſent from the Dolphin,
And by your ayde, the noble ſinnewes of our Land,
France being ours, weel bring it to our awe,
Or breake it all in peeces:
Either our Chronicles ſhall with full mouth ſpeake
Freely of our acts, or elſe like tongueleſſe mutes,
Not worſhipt with a paper Epitaph:

Enter the Ambaſſadors from France.

Now are we well prepard to know the Dolphins pleaſure.
For we heare your comming is from him.

Ambaſ. Pleaſeth your Maieſty to giue vs leaue.
Freely to render what we haue in charge,
Or ſhall I ſparingly ſhew a farre off,
The Dolphins pleaſure, and our Embaſſage?

King. We are no tyrant, but a Chriſtian King,
To whom our ſpirit is as ſubiect,
As are our wretches fettered in our priſons.

Therefore freely, and with vncurbed boldneſſe
Tell vs the Dolphins minde.
Ambaſ. Then this in fine the Dolphin ſaith,
VVhereas you claime certaine Townes in France,
From your predeceſſor King Edward the third,
This he returnes:
He ſaith, there's nought in France,
That can be with a nimble Galliard wonne,
You cannot reuell into Dukedomes there:
Therefore he ſendeth meeter for your ſtudie
This tun of treaſure: and in lieu of this,
Deſires to let the Dukedomes that you craue
Heare no more from you. This the Dolphin ſaith.
King. VVhat treaſure Vnckle?
Exe. Tennis balles my Liege.
King. Wee are glad the Dolphin is ſo pleaſant with vs,
Your meſſage, and his preſent we accept.
When we haue matcht our Rackets to theſe balles,
We wil by Gods grace play him ſuch a ſet,
Shal ſtrike his fathers Crowne into the hazard.
Tell him he hath made a match with ſuch a wrangler,
That all the courts of France ſhalbe diſturbd with chaſes.
And we vnderſtand him well, how he comes ore vs
With our wilder daies,
Not meaſuring what vſe we made of them.
We neuer valew'd this poore ſeate of England,
And therefore gaue our ſelues to barbarous Licenſe,
As tis common ſeene,
That men are merrieſt when they are from home.
But tell the Dolphin we will keepe our ſtate,
Be like a King, mighty, and command,
When we do rowſe vs in the Throne of France.
For this we haue layd by our Maieſty,
And plodded like a man for working dayes.
But we will riſe therewith ſo full of glory,
That we will dazle all the eyes of France,
I ſtrike the Dolphin blinde to looke on vs.

And tell him this,
His mocke hath turn'd his balles to gun-ſtones,
And his ſoule ſhall ſit ſore charged, for the waſtfull
Vengeance that ſhall flye from them,
For this his mocke,
Shall mocke many a wife out of their deare husbands,
Mocke mothers from their ſonnes, mocke Caſtles down.
I, ſome are yet vngotten and vnborne,
That ſhall haue cauſe to curſe the Dolphins ſcorne.
But this lies all within the will of God,
To whom we do appeale: and in whoſe name,
Tell you the Dolphin we are comming on,
To venge vs as we may, and to put forth our hand
In a right cauſe: ſo get you hence, and tell your Prince,
His ieſt will ſauour but of ſhallow wit,
When thouſands weepe more then did laugh at it.
Conuey them with ſafe conduct; ſee them hence.
Exe. This was a merry meſſage.
King. We hope to make the ſender bluſh at it:
Therfore let our collection for the wars be ſoon prouided
For God before, weel check the Dolphin at his fathers
Doore: therefore let euery man now taske his thought,
That this faire action may on foote be brought.

Exeunt omnes.

Enter Nim and Bardolfe.

Bar. Good morrow Corporall Nim.
Nim. Good morrow Lieutenant Bardolfe.
Bar. What, is Ancient Piſtoll and thee friends yet?
Nim. I cannot tell, things muſt be as they may:
I dare not fight, but I will winke and hold out mine Iron,
Tis a ſimple one, but what tho; twil ſerue to toſte cheeſe,
And it will endure cold as another mans ſword will,
And theres the humour of it.
Bar. Ifaith Miſtreſſe Quickly did thee great wrong,
For thou wert troth-plight to her.

Nim. I must do as I may, tho patience be a tired mare,
Yet sheel plod, and some say knives have edges,
And men may sleepe and have their throates about them
At that time, and there's the humor of it.

Bar. Come ifaith, Ile bestow a breakfast to make Pistoll and thee friends. What a plague should we carry knives to cut our owne throates.

Nim. Ifaith ile live as long as I may, that's the certaine of it. And when I cannot live any longer, Ile do as I may,
And there's my rest, and the randevous of it.

Enter Pistoll, and Hostes Quickly his wife.

Bar. Good morrow ancient Pistoll
heere comes ancient Pistoll, I prethee Nim be quiet.

Nim. How do you my host?

Pist. Base slave, call'st thou me host?
Now by gads lugges I sweare, I scorne the title,
Nor shall my Nell keepe lodging.

Host. No by my troth not I,
For we cannot bed nor board halfe a score gentlewomen
That live honestly by the pricke of their needle,
But it is thought straight we keepe a bawdy-house.
O Lord, heere's Corporall Nim, now shall
We have wilfull adultery and murther committed:
Good Corporall Nim shew the valour of a man,
And put vp your sword. Nim. Push.

Pist. What, dost thou push, thou prickeard cur of Iseland

Nim. Will you shog off? I would have you solus.

Pist. Solus, egregious dog, that solus in thy throate,
And in thy lungs, and which is worse, within
Thy mesfull mouth, I do retort that solus
In thy bowels, and in thy law perdie; for I can talke,
And Pistols flashing fiery cocke is vp.

Nim. I am not Barbason, you cannot coniure me;
I have an humor Pistoll to knocke you indifferently well,
And you fall foule with me Pistoll,
Ile scoure you with my Rapier in faire tearmes.

If

If you will walke off a little,
Ile pricke your guts a little in good termes,
And there's the humor of it.

Pist. O braggard vile, and damned furious wight,
The graue doth gape, and groaning death is neere,
Therefore exall. They draw.

Bar. Heare me, he that strikes the first blow,
Ile kill him, as I am a Souldier.

Pist. An oath of mickle might, and fury shall abate.

Nim. Ile cut your throat at one time or another
In faire termes: and there's the humor of it.

Pist. Couple gorge is the word, I thee defie agen;
A damned hound, think'st thou my spouse to get?
No, to the powdering tub of infamy,
Fetch foorth the lazar kite of Cresides kinde,
Doll Tear-sheete, she by name, and her espowse
I have, and I will hold, the quandom quickly,
For the onely she and Paco, there it is enough.

Enter the Boy.

Boy. Hostes, you must come straight to my Master,
And you host Pistoll.
Good Bardolfe put thy nose betweene the sheetes,
And do the office of a warning pan.

Host. By my troth hee'l yeeld the Crow a pudding one of these dayes.
Ile go to him, husband you'l come?

Bar. Come Pistoll be friends.
Nim, prethee be friends, and if thou wilt not,
Be enemies with me too.

Ni. I shal have my eight shillings I won of you at betting

Pist. Base is the slave that payes.

Ni. That now I will have, and there's the humor of it.

Pist. As manhood shall compound. They draw.

Bar. He that strikes the first blow,
Ile kill him by this sword.

Pi. Sword is an oath, and oathes must have their course.

Nim. I shall haue my eight shillings I wonne of you at betting.

Pist. A noble shalt thou haue, and ready pay,
And liquor likewise will I giue to thee,
And friendship shall combinde out brotherhood,
Ile liue by Nim, as Nim shall liue by me:
Is not this iust? for I shall Sutler be
Vnto the Campe, and profit will accrue.

Nim. I shall haue my noble?

Pist. In cash most truely paid.

Nim. Why theres the humor of it.

Enter Hostes.

Hostes. As euer you came of men come in,
Sir Iohn, poore soule is so troubled
With a burning tashan contigian feuer, tis wonderfull.

Pist. Let vs condole the knight; for lamkins we wil liue.

Exeunt omnes.

Enter Exeter and Gloster.

Glost. Before God my Lord, his Grace is too bold to trust these traytors.

Exe. They shall be apprehended by and by.

Glost. I but the man that was his bedfellow,
Whom he hath cloyed and graced with Princely fauors,
That he should for a forreigne purse, to sell
His Soueraignes life to death and trechery.

Exe. O the Lord of Massham.

Enter the King and three Lords.

King. Now sirs, the winde is faire, and we will aboord;
My Lord of Cambridge, and my Lord of Massham,
And you my gentle Knight, giue me your thoughts,
Do you not thinke the power we beare with vs,
Will make vs Conquerors in the field of France?

Massham. No doubt my Liege, if each man do his best.

Cam.

Cam. Neuer was Monarch better feared and loued then is your Maiesty.

Grey. Euen those that were your fathers enemies
Haue steeped their gals in hony for your sake.

King. We therefore haue great cause of thankfulnesse,
And shall forget the office of our hands;
Aecording to their cause and worthinesse.

Mas. So seruice shall with steeled sinewes shine,
And labour shall refresh it selfe with hope
To do your Grace incessant seruice.

King. Vnckle of Exeter, enlarge the man
Committed yesterday, that raild against our person,
We consider it was the heate of wine that set him on,
And on his more aduice we pardon him.

Mas. That is mercy, but too much security;
Let him be punisht Soueraigne,
Least the example of him, breed more of such a kinde.

King. O let vs yet be mercifull.

Cam. So may your highnesse, and punish too.

Grey. You shew great mercy if you giue him life,
After the taste of his correction.

King. Alasse, your too much care and loue of me,
Are heauy orisons against the poore wretch,
If little faults proceeding on distemper,
Should not be winked at,
How should we stretch our eye, when capitall crimes,
Chewed, swallowed, and digested, appeare before vs;
Well yet enlarge the man, tho Cambridge and the rest
In their deare loues, and tender preseruation of our state,
Would haue him punisht.
Now to our French causes.
Who are the late Commissioners?

Cam. Me one my Lord,
Your highnesse bad me aske for it to day.

Mas. So did you me my Soueraigne.

Grey. And me my Lord.

King.

King. Then Richard Earle of Cambridge, there is yours.
There is yours, my Lord of Masham:
And sir Thomas Grey, knight of Northumberland,
This same is yours;
Reade them, and know we know your worthinesse.
Vnckle Exeter, I will aboord to night.
Why how now Gentlemen, why change you colour?
What see you in those papers,
That hath so chased your blood out of apparance?
Cam. I do confesse my fault, and do submit me
To your highnesse mercy.
Masb. To which we all appeale.
King. The mercy which was quit in vs but late,
By your owne reasons is fore-stald and done:
You must not dare for shame to aske for mercy,
For your owne conscience turne vpon your bosomes,
As dogs vpon their masters worrying them.
See you my Princes, and my Noble Peeres,
These englisb Monsters:
My Lord of Cambridge here,
You know how apt we were to grace him
In all things belonging to his honor;
And this vilde man hath for a few light crownes,
Lightly conspir'd and sworne vnto the practises of France,
To kill vs heere in Hampton. To the which,
This knight, no lesse in bounty bound to vs
Then Cambridge is, hath likewise sworne.
But oh, what shall I say to thee false man,
Thou cruell, ingratefull, and inhumane creature,
Thou that didst beare the key of all my counsell,
That knewst the very secrets of my heart,
That almost mightst haue coyn'd me into gold;
Wouldst thou haue practisde on me for thy vse?
Can it be possible, that out of thee
Should proceed one sparke that might annoy my finger?
Tis so strange, that tho the truth doth shew as grose

As

As blacke from white, mine eye will scarsely see it.
Their faults are open,
Arrest them to the answer of the law,
And God acquit them of their practises.
Exe. I arrest thee of high treason,
By the name of Richard, Earle of Cambridge.
I arrest thee of high treason,
By the name of Henry, Lord of Masham.
I arrest thee of high treason,
By the name of Thomas Grey,
Knight of Northumberland.
Masb. Our purposes God iustly hath discouered,
And I repent my fault more then my death,
Which I beseech your Maiesty forgiue,
Although my body pay the price of it.
King. God quit you in his mercy.
Heare your sentence.
You haue conspir'd against our royall Person,
Ioyned with an enemy proclaim'd and fixed.
And from his Coffers receiued the golden earnest of our death,
Touching our person we seeke no redresse,
But we our kingdomes safety must so tender,
Whose ruine you haue sought,
That to our lawes we do deliuer you.
Get you hence, poore miserable creatures to your death,
The taste whereof, God in his mercy giue you patience
To endure, and true repentance of all your deeds amisse:
Beare them hence.

Exit three Lords.

Now Lords to France: The enterprise whereof,
Shall be to you as vs, successiuely. (way,
Since God cut off this dangerous treason lurking in our Cheerly to sea, the signes of war aduance;
No King of England, if not King of France.

Exit omnes.

Enter

Enter Nim, Piſtoll, Bardolfe, Hoſter, and a boy.

Hoſt. I prethee ſweet heart,
Let me bring thee ſo farre as Staines.
Piſt. No fur, no fur.
Bar. Well, ſir Iohn is gone, God be with him.
Hoſt. I, he is in Arthors boſome, if euer any were,
He went away as if it were a cryſombd childe,
Betweene twelue and one,
Iuſt at turning of the tide;
His noſe was as ſharpe as a pen;
For when I ſaw him fumble with the ſheets,
And talke of flowers, and ſmile vpon his fingers ends,
I knew there was no way but one.
How now ſir Iohn, quoth I?
And he cryed three times, God, God, God,
Now I to comfort him, bad him not thinke of God,
I hope there was no ſuch need.
Then he bad me put more cloathes on his feete,
And I felt to them, and they were as cold as any ſtone,
And to his knees, and they were as cold as any ſtone.
And ſo vpward, & vpward, and all was as cold as ſtone.
Nim. They ſay he cride out on Sacke.
Hoſt. I that he did.
Boy. And of women.
Hoſt. No that he did not.
Boy. Yes that he did, & ſed they were diuels incarnate.
Hoſt. Indeed carnation was a colour he neuer loued.
Nim. Well, he did cry out on women.
Hoſt. Indeed he did in ſome ſort handle women
But then he was rumaticke,
And talkt of the whore of Babilon.
Boy. Hoſtes, do you remember he ſaw a Flea ſtand
Vpon Bardolfes noſe, and ſed it was a blacke ſoule
Burning in hell?

Bard.

Bar. Well, God be with him,
That was all the wealth I got in his ſeruice.
Nim. Shall we ſhog off?
The king will be gone from Southampton.
Piſt. Cleare vp thy criſtals,
Looke to my chattels and my moueables;
Truſt none; the word is pitch and pay:
Mens words are wafer cakes,
And hold faſt is the onely dog my deare.
Therefore cophetua be thy counſellor,
Touch her ſoft lips and part.
Bar. Farewell hoſteſſe.
Nim. I cannot kis, and theres the humor of it.
But adieu.
Piſt. Keepe faſt thy buggle boe.

Exit omnes.

Enter King of France, Bourbon, Dolphin, and others.

King. Now you Lords of Orleance,
Of Bourbon, and of Berry,
You ſee the King of England is not ſlacke,
For he is footed on this Land already.
Dolphin. My gracious Lord,
Tis meete we all go foorth,
And arme vs againſt the foe:
And view the weake and ſickly parts of France:
But let vs do it with no ſhew of feare,
No with no more, then if we heard
England were troubled with a Morris dance.
For my good Lord, ſhe is ſo idely kingd,
Her ſcepter ſo fantaſtically borne,
So guided by a ſhallow humorous youth,
That feare attends her not.
Con. O peace Prince Dolphin, you deceiue your ſelfe,

Queſtion your Grace the late Embaſſador,
With what regard he heard his Embaſſage,
How well ſupplied with aged Counſellors,
And how his reſolution anſwer'd him,
You then would ſay, that Harry was not wilde.
King. Well, thinke we Harry ſtrong,
And ſtrongly arme vs to preuent the foe.
Con. My Lord, heere is an Ambaſſador
From the King of England.
King. Bid him come in.
You ſee this chaſe is hotly followed, Lords.
Dol. My gracious father, cut vp this Engliſh ſhort,
Selfe-loue my Liege is not ſo vile a thing
As ſelfe-neglecting.

Enter Exeter.

King. From our brother of England?
Exe. From him, and thus he greets your Maieſty;
He wils you in the name of God Almighty,
That you deueſt your ſelfe, and lay apart
That borrowed title, which by gift of heauen,
Of law, of nature, and of Nations, longs
To him and to his heires, namely the Crowne
And all wide ſtretched titles that belongs
Vnto the crowne of France, that you may know
Tis no ſiniſter, nor no awkeward claime,
Pickt from the wormeholes of old vaniſht daies
Nor from the duſt of old obliuion rackt,
He ſends you theſe moſt memorable lines,
In euery branch truely demonſtrated:
Willing you ouerlooke this pedigree,
And when you finde him euenly deriued
From his moſt famed and famous Anceſtors,
Edward the third; he bids you then reſigne
Your Crowne and Kingdome, indirectly held
From him, the native and true Challenger.

King.

King. If not, what followes?
Exe. Bloody cõſtraint, for if you hide the crown
Euen in your hearts, there will he rake for it:
Therefore in fierce tempeſt is he comming
In thunder, and in earthquake, like a Ione,
That if requiring faile, he will compell it:
And on your heads turnes he the widows teares
The orphants cries, the dead mens bones,
The pining maidens grones,
For husbands, fathers, and diſtreſſed louers,
Which ſhall be ſwallowed in this controuerſie.
This is his claime, his threatning, & my meſſage,
Vnleſſe the Dolphin be in preſence heere,
To whom expreſly we bring greeting too.
Dol. For the Dolphin? I ſtand here for him,
What to heare from England.
Exe. Scorn & defiance, ſlight regard, contempt,
And any thing that may not miſ-become
The mighty ſender, doth he prize you at:
Thus ſaith my King. Vnles your fathers highnes
Sweeten the bitter mocke you ſent his Maieſty,
Hee'l call you to ſo loud an anſwer for it,
That Caues and wombly Vaults of France
Shall chide your treſpaſſe, & returne your mock,
In ſecond accent of his Ordenance.
Dol. Say that my father render faire reply,
It is againſt my will:
For I deſire nothing ſo much,
As oddes with England.
And for that cauſe, according to his youth,
I did preſent him with thoſe Paris balles.
Exe. Hee'l make your Paris Louer ſhake for it,
Were it the Miſtreſſe Court of mighty Europe.
And be aſſured, you'l finde a difference,
As we his ſubiects haue in wonder found,
Betweene his yonger daies, and theſe he muſters now;

Now he weighes time euen to the lateſt graine,
Which you ſhall finde in your owne loſſes,
If we ſtay in France.

King. Well, for vs you ſhall returne our anſwer backe
To our brother of England.

Exit omnes.

Enter Nim, Bardolfe, Piſtoll, and Boy.

Nim. Before God heeres hot ſeruice.

Piſt. Tis hot indeed, blowes go and come,
Gods vaſſals drop and dye.

Nim, Tis honor, and there's the humor of it.

Boy. Would I were in London,
Ide giue all my honour for a pot of Ale.

Piſt. And I: if wiſhes would preuaile,
I would not ſtay, but thither would I hie.

Enter Flewellen, and beats them in.

Flew. Gods plud, vp to the breaches
You raſcals, will you not vp to the breaches?

Nim. Abate thy rage ſweete knight,
Abate thy rage.

Boy. Well, I would I were once from them;
They would haue me as familiar
With mens pockets, as their Gloues and their
Handkerchers, they will ſteale any thing.
Bardolfe ſtole a Lute-caſe, carried it three mile,
And ſold it for three halfepence.
Nim ſtole a fire-ſhouell,
I knew by that, they meant to carry coales:
Well, if they will not leaue me,
I meane to leaue them.

Exit Nim, Bardolfe, Piſtoll, and Boy.

Enter Gower.

Gower. Captaine Flewellen, you muſt come ſtrait
To the Mines, to the Duke of Gloſter.

Flew.

Flew. Looke you, tell the Duke it is not ſo good
To come to the Mines: the concuaueties is otherwiſe,
You may diſcuſſe to the Duke, the enemy is digd
Himſelfe fiue yards vnder the countermines:
By Ieſhu I thinke heel blow vp all,
If there be no better direction.

Alarum. Enter the King and his Lords.

King. How yet reſolues the Gouernor of the Towne?
This is the lateſt parley weel admit;
Therefore to our beſt mercy giue your ſelues,
Or like to men proud of deſtruction, defie vs to our worſt,
For as I am a ſouldier, a name that in my thoughts
Becomes me beſt, if we begin the battery once againe,
I will not leaue the halfe atchieued Harflew,
Till in her aſhes ſhe be buried,
The gates of mercy are all ſhut vp.
What ſay you, will you yeeld and this auoid,
Or guilty in defence be thus deſtroid?

Enter Gouernor.

Gouer. Our expectation hath this day an end:
The Dolphin, whom of ſuccout we entreated,
Returnes vs word, his powers are not yet ready
To raiſe ſo great a ſiege: therefore dread King,
We yeeld our towne and liues to thy ſoft mercy:
Enter our gates, diſpoſe of vs and ours,
For we no longer are defenſiue now.

Enter Katherine and Alice.

Kate. Alice venecia, vous aues cates en,
Vou parte fort bon Angloys englatara,
Coman ſae palla vou la main en francoy.

Alice.

Alice. La main madam de han.
Kate. E da bras.
Alice. De arma madam.
Kate. Le main da han la bras de arma,
Alice. Owye Madam.
Kate. E Coman sa pella vow la menton a la coll.
Alice. De neck, e de cin, Madam.
Kate. E de neck, e de cin, e de code.
Alice. De cudie ma foy Ie oblye, mais Ie remembre,
Le tude, o de elbo Madam.
Kate. Ecowte Ie reherserá, towt cella que Iac apoandre,
De han, de arma, de neck, du cin, e de bilbo.
Alice. De elbo Madam.
Kate. O Iesu, Iea obloye ma foy, ecoute Ie recontera
De han, de arma, de neck, de cin, e de elbo, e ca bon.
Alice. May foy Madam, vou parla au se bon Angloy,
Asie vous aues ettue en Englatara.
Kate. Par la grace de deu an petty tanes. Ie parle milleur
Coman se pella vou le peid e le robe.
Alice. Le foot, e le con.
Kate. Le foot, e le con, O Iesu! Ie ne veu poinct parle,
Sie plus deuant le cho cheualires de franca,
Pur one million ma foy.
Alice. Madam, de foote, e le con.
Kate. O et ill ausie, ecoute Alice, de han, de arma,
De neck, de cin, le foote, e de con.
Alice. Cet fort bon Madam,
Kate. A loues a diner.

Exit omnes.

Enter King of France, Lord Constable, the Dolphin, and Bourbon.

King. Tis certaine he is past the Riuer Some.
Con. Mordeu ma via: Shall a few spranes of vs,
(The emptying of our fathers luxery)
Out-

Outgrow their grafters.
Bur. Normanes, bastard Normanes, mor du,
And if they passe vnfought withall,
Ie sell my Dukedome for a foggy Farme
In that short nooke Ile of England.
Con. Why whence haue they this mettall?
Is not their Climate raw, foggy, and cold.
On whom, as in disdaine, the Sunne lookes pale?
Can barley broth, a drench for swolne Iades,
Their sodden water decockt such liuely blood?
And shall our quicke blood, spirited with wine,
Seeme frosty? O for honour of our names,
Let vs not hang like frozen Icesickles
Vpon our houses tops, while they (a more frosty Climate)
Sweate drops of youthfull blood.
King. Constable dispatch, send Montioy foorth,
To know what willing ransome he will giue:
Sonne Dolphin, you shall stay in Rhoine with me.
Dol. Not so, I do beseech your Maiesty.
King. Well, I say it shall be so.

Exeunt omnes.

Enter Gower and Flewellen.

Gower. How now Captaine Flewellen,
Come you from the bridge?
Flew. By Iesus there's excellent seruice committed at the bridge?
Gower. Is the Duke of Exeter safe?
Flew. The Duke of Exeter is a man whom I loue,
And I honour, and I worship with my soule,
And my heart, and my life,
And my lands, and my liuings,
And my vttermost powers.
The Duke is looke you,
God be praised and pleased for it,
No harme in the worell.

He

He is maintaine the Bridge very gallantly:
There is an Enſigne there,
I do not know how you call him,
But by Ieſhu I thinke he is as valiant as Marke Anthony,
He doth maintaine the Bridge moſt gallantly;
Yet he is a man of no reckoning;
But I did ſee him do gallant ſeruice.

Gouer. how do you call him?

Flew. his name is ancient Piſtoll.

Gouer. I know him not.

Enter Ancient Piſtoll.

Flew. Do you not know him, here comes the man.

Piſt. Captaine, I thee beſeech to do me a fauour,
The Duke of Exeter doth loue thee well.

Flew. I, and I praiſe God I haue merited ſome loue at his hands.

Piſt. Bardolfe a ſouldier, one of buxſome valour;
Hath by furious fate, and giddy Fortunes fickle wheele,
That God's blinde that ſtands vpon the rowling reſtleſſe ſtone.

Flew. By your patience Ancient Piſtoll,
Fortune looke you is painted plinde,
With a muſler before her eyes,
To ſignifie to you, that Fortune is plinde:
And ſhe is moreouer painted with a wheele,
Which is the Morall that Fortune is turning,
And inconſtant, and variation, and mutabilities:
And her fate is fixed at a ſphericall ſtone,
Which rolles, and rolles, and rolles;
Surely the Poet is make an excellent deſcription of Fortune.
Fortune looke you is an excellent Morall.

Piſt. Fortune is Bardolfes foe, and frownes on him,
For he hath ſtolne a packs, and hangd muſt he be;
A damned death, let gallowes gape for dogs,

Let man go free, and let not death his windpipe ſtop.
But Exeter hath giuen the doome of death,
For packs of petty price:
Therefore go ſpeake, the Duke will heare thy voice,
And let not Bardolfes vitall thred be cut,
With edge of penny cord, and vile approach.
Speake Captaine for his life, and I will thee requite.

Flew. Captaine Piſtoll, I partly vnderſtand your meaning.

Piſt. Why then reioyce therefore.

Flew. Certainly Ancient Piſtoll,
Tis not a thing to reioyce at,
For if he were my owne brother, I would wiſh the Duke
To do his pleaſure, and put him to executions;
For looke you, diſciplines ought to be kept,
They ought to be kept.

Piſt. Die and be damned, and a fig for thy friendſhip.

Flew. That is good.

Piſt. The figge of Spaine within thy law.

Flew. That is very well.

Piſt. I ſay the fig within thy bowels & thy durty maw.

Exit Piſtoll.

Flew. Captaine Gower, cannot you heare it lighten and thunder?

Gower. Why is this the Ancient you told me of?
I remember him now, he is a bawd, a cut-purſe.

Flew. By Ieſus he is vtter as praue words vpon the bridge
As you ſhall deſire to ſee in a ſommers day;
But tis all one, what he hath ſed to me,
Looke you, is all one.

Gower. Why this is a gull, a foole, a rogue
That goes to the wars onely to grace himſelfe
At his returne to London:
And ſuch fellowes as he,
Are perfect in great Commanders names.
They will learne by rote where ſeruices were done,
At ſuch and ſuch a ſconce, at ſuch a breach,

At ſuch a conuoy, who came off brauely, who was ſhot,
Who diſgraced, what termes the enemy ſtood on.
And this they con perfectly in phraſe of warre,
Which they tricke vp with new tun'd oathes,
And what a beard of the Generals cut,
And a horrid ſhout of the Campe
Will do among the foming bottles and alewaſht wits
Is wonderfull to be thought on: but you muſt learne
To know ſuch ſlanders of this age,
Or elſe you may meruellouſly be miſtooke.

Flew. Certaine Captaine Gower, it is not the man,
Looke you, that I did take him to be:
But when time ſhall ſerue, I ſhall tell him a little
Of my deſires: heere comes his Maieſty.

Enter King, Clarence, Gloſter, and others.

King. How now Flewellen, come you from the bridge?

Flew. I and it ſhall pleaſe your Maieſty,
There is excellent ſeruice at the bridge.

King. What men haue you loſt Flewellen?

Flew. And it ſhall pleaſe your Maieſty,
The partition of the aduerſary hath beene great,
Very reaſonably great, but for our owne parts,
I thinke we haue loſt neuer a man, vnleſſe it be one
For robbing of a Church, one Bardolfe, if your Maieſty
Know the man, his face is full of whelks, and knubs,
And pumples, and his breath blowes at his noſe
Like a coale, ſometimes red, ſometimes plew;
But God be praiſed, now his noſe is executed,
And his fire out.

King. We would haue all offenders ſo cut off,
And here we giue expreſſe commandement,
That there be nothing taken from the villages
But paid for; none of the French abuſed,
Or vpbraided with diſdainfull language:
For when cruelty and lenity play for a Kingdome,
The gentleſt gameſter is the ſooner winner.

Enter the French Herauld.

Herald. You know me by my habite.

King. Well then, we know thee,
What ſhould we know of thee?

Her. My Maſters minde. King. Vnfold it.

Her. Go thee vnto Harry of England, and tell him,
Aduantage is a better ſouldier then raſhneſſe:
Although we did ſeeme dead, we did but ſlumber.
Now we ſpeake vpon our kue, & our voyce is imperiall,
England ſhall repent her folly, ſee her raſhneſſe,
And admire our ſufferance. VVhich to ranſome,
His pettineſſe would bow vnder:
For the effuſion of our blood, his army is too weake;
For the diſgrace we haue borne, himſelfe kneeling
At our feete, a weake and worthleſſe ſatisfaction.
To this, adde defiance.
So much from the King my Maſter.

King. VVhat is thy name? we know thy quality.

Herald. Montioy.

King. Thou doſt thy office faire, returne thee backe,
And tell thy King, I do not ſeeke him now;
But could be well content, without impeach,
To march on to Callis; for to ſay the ſooth,
(Though tis no wiſedome to confeſſe ſo much Vnto an enemy of craft and vantage)
My ſouldiers are with ſickneſſe much enfeebled,
My Army leſſened, and thoſe few I haue,
Almoſt no better then ſo many French:
VVho when they were in heart, I tell thee Herald,
I thought vpon one paire of Engliſh legs,
Did march three Frenchmens.
Yet God forgiue me, that I do brag thus;
Your aire of France hath blowne this vice in me.
I muſt repent, go tell thy Matter here I am,
My ranſome is this fraile and worthleſſe body,
My Army but a weake and ſickly guard.

 Yet

Yet God before, we will come on,
If France and such another neighbor stood in our way;
If we may passe, we will; if we be hindered,
We shal your tawny grou̅d with your red blood discolour.
So Montioy get you gone, there's for your paines:
The sum of all our answere is but this,
We would not seeke a battle as we are;
Nor as we are, we say we will not shun it.

Herald. I shall deliuer so: thanks to your Maiesty.

Gloſt. My Liege, I hope they will not come vpon vs now.

King. We are in Gods hand brother, not in theirs;
To night we will encampe beyond the bridge,
And on to morrow bid them march away. Exit.

Enter Burbon, Constable, Orleance, and Gebon.

Con. Tut, I haue the best armour in the world.

Orleance. You haue an excellent armour,
But let my horse haue his due.

Bur. Now you talke of a horse,
I haue a steed like the Palfrey of the sunne,
Nothing but pure aire and fire,
And hath none of this dull element of earth within him.

Orleance. He is of the colour of the Nutmeg.

Bur. And of the heate of the Ginger.
Turne all the sands into eloquent tongues,
And my horse is argument for them all:
I once writ a Sonnet in the praise of my horse,
And began thus, Wonder of nature.

Con. I haue heard a Sonnet begin so,
In the praise of ones Mistresse.

Bur. Why then did they imitate
That which I writ in praise of my horse,
For my horse is my Mistresse.

Con. Ma foy the other day, me-thought
Your Mistresse shooke you shrewdly.

Bur.

Bur. I, bearing me. I tell thee Lord Constable,
My Mistresse weares her owne haire.

Con. I could make as good a boast of that,
If I had a Sow to my Mistresse.

Bur. Tut, thou wilt make vse of any thing.

Con. Yet I do not vse my horse for my Mistresse.

Bur. Will it neuer be morning?
Ile ride too morrow a mile,
And my way shall be paued with englisth faces.

Con. By my faith so will not I,
For feare I be out-faced of my way. Exit.

Bur. Well, ile go arme my selfe; hay,

Gebon. The Duke of Burbon longs for morning.

Orleance. I, he longs to eate the Englisth.

Con. I thinke hee'l eate all he kils.

Orlean. O peace, ill will neuer said well.

Con. Ile cap that Prouerbe,
With there's flattery in friendship.

Orle. O sir, I can answer that,
With giue the Diuell his due.

Con. Haue at the eye of that Prouerbe,
With a iogge of the Diuell.

Orle. Well, the Duke of Burbon is simply
The most actiue Gentleman of France.

Con. Doing his actiuity, and hee'l still be doing.

Orle. He neuer did hurt as I heard off.

Con. No I warrant you, nor neuer will.

Orle. I hold him to be exceeding valiant.

Con. I was told so by one that knowes him better then you.

Orle. Whose that?

Con. Why he told me so himselfe.
And said he cared not who knew it.

Orle. Well, who will go with me to hazard,
For a hundred Englisth prisoners?

Con. You must go to hazard your selfe,

Before

Before you haue them.

Enter a Meſſenger.

Meſſ. My Lords, the Engliſh lie within a hundred
Paces of your Tent.

Con. VVho hath meaſured the ground?

Meſſ. The Lord Granpeere.

Con. A valiant man, an expert Gentleman.
Come, come away,
The Sun is hie, and we weare out the day. Exit omnes.

Enter the King diſguiſed, to him Piſtoll.

Piſt. Ke ve la?

King. A friend.

Piſt. Diſcus vnto me, art thou a gentleman?
Or art thou common, baſe, and popeler?

King. No ſir, I am a Gentleman of a Company.

Piſt. Trailes thou the puiſſant Pike?

King. Euen ſo ſir. VVhat are you?

Piſt. As good a gentleman as the Emperor.

King. O then thou art better then the King.

Piſt. The Kings a bago, and a hart of gold,
A lad of life, an impe of fame,
Of parents good, of fiſt moſt valiant:
I kis his durty ſhooe, and from my heart ſtrings
I loue the louely bully. What is thy name?

King. Harry le Roy.

Piſt. Le Roy, a Corniſh man;
Art thou of Corniſh crew?

King. No ſir, I am a Welchman.

Piſt. A Welchman; knowſt thou Flewellen?

King. I ſir, he is my kinſman.

Piſt. Art thou his friend?

King. I ſir.

Piſt. Figa for thee then; my name is Piſtoll.

King. It ſorts well with your fierceneſſe.

Piſt.

Piſt. Piſtoll is my name. Exit Piſtoll.

Enter Gower and Flewellen.

Gower. Captaine Flewellen.

Flew. In the name of Ieſu ſpeake lower.
It is the greateſt folly in the worell, when the ancient Prerogatiues of the warres be not kept.
I warrant you, if you looke into the wars of the Romanes,
You ſhall finde no tittle tattle, nor bibble babble there,
But you ſhall finde the cares, and the feares,
And the ceremonies to be otherwiſe.

Gow. Why the enemy is loud: you heard him all night.

Flew. Godes ſollud, if the enemy be an aſſe & a foole,
And a prating cocks-combe, is it meet that we be alſo
A foole, and a prating cocks-combe,
In your conſcience now?

Gower. Ile ſpeake lower.

Flew. I beſeech you do, good Captaine Gower.

Exit Gower and Flewellen.

King. Though it appeare a little out of faſhion,
Yet there's much care in this.

Enter three Souldiers.

1. Soul. Is not that the morning yonder?

2. Soul. I, we ſee the beginning,
God knowes whether we ſhall ſee the end or no.

3. Soul. Well, I thinke the King could wiſh himſelfe
Vp to the necke in the middle of the Thames,
And ſo I would he were, at all aduentures, and I with him.

King. Now maſters good morrow, what cheare?

3. Soul. Ifaith ſmall cheere ſome of vs is like to haue,
Ere this day to an end.

King. Why feare nothing man, the king is frolike.

2. Soul. I he may be, for he hath no cauſe as we.

King. Nay ſay not ſo, he is a man as we are,
The Violet ſmels to him as vnto vs;
Therefore if he ſee reaſons, he feares as we do.

2. Soul.

2. Soul. But the King hath a heauy reckoning to make,
If his cauſe be not good; when all thoſe ſoules
Whoſe bodies ſhall be ſlaughtered here,
Shall ioyne together at the latter day,
And ſay I dyed at ſuch a place. Some ſwearing;
Some leauing their children poore behinde them.
Now if his cauſe be bad,
I thinke it will be a greeuous matter to him.
King. Why ſo you may ſay, if a man ſend his ſeruant
As Factor into another Country,
And he by any meanes miſcarry,
You may ſay the buſineſſe of the Maſter
Was the author of his ſeruants miſ-fortune.
Or if a ſonne be imployd by his father,
And he fall into any ieud action, you may ſay the father
Was the author of his ſonnes damnation.
But the maſter is not to anſwer for his ſeruant,
The father for his ſonne, nor the king for his ſubiects;
For they purpoſe not their deaths,
When they craue their ſeruices;
Some there are that haue the gift
Of premeditated murder on them:
Others the broken ſeale of Forgery, in beguiling maidens
Now if theſe out-ſtrip the law,
Yet they cannot eſcape Gods puniſhment.
War is Gods Beadle. War is Gods vengeance:
Euery mans ſeruice is the Kings:
But euery mans ſoule is his owne.
Therefore I would haue euery ſouldier examine himſelfe,
And waſh euery moth out of his conſcience,
That in ſo doing, he may be the readier for death;
Or not dying, why the time was well ſpent,
Wherein ſuch preparation was made.
3. Soul. I faith he ſaies true,
Euery mans fault is on his owne head,

I would not haue the king anſwer for me,
Yet I intend to fight luſtily for him.
King. Well, I heard the king wold not be ranſomd.
2. Soul. I he ſaid ſo, to make vs fight;
But when our throats be cut, he may be ranſomd,
And we neuer the wiſer.
King. If I liue to ſee that, ile neuer truſt his word againe.
2. Soul. Maſſe you'l pay him then,
Tis a great diſpleaſure that an elder
Gun can do againſt a Cannon,
Or a ſubiect againſt a Monarch.
You'l nere take his word againe, you are a naſſe, goe.
King. Your reproofe is ſomewhat too bitter;
Were it not at this time I could be angry.
2. Soul. Why let it be a quarrell if thou wilt.
King. How ſhall I know thee?
2. Soul. Here's my gloue, which if euer I ſee in thy hat,
Ile challenge thee, and ſtrike thee.
King. Here is likewiſe another of mine,
And aſſure thee ile weare it.
2. Soul. Thou dar'ſt as well be hangd.
3. Soul. Be friends you fooles,
We haue French quarrels enow in hand,
We haue no need of Engliſh broyles.
King. Tis no treaſon to cut French Crownes,
For to morrow the King himſelfe will be a clipper.
Exit the ſouldiers.

Enter to the King, Glocester, Epingham, and Attendants.

King. O God of battels ſteele my ſouldiers harts,
Take from them now the ſence of reckoning,
That the appoſed multitudes which ſtand before them,
May not appale their courage.
O not too day, not too day O God,

Thinke on the fault my father made,
In compaſſing the Crowne.
I Richards body haue interred new,
And on it hath beſtow'd more contrite teares,
Then from it iſſued forced drops of blood;
A hundred men haue I in yearely pay,
Which euery day their withered hands hold vp
To heauen, to pardon blood,
And I haue built two Chanceries, more will I do:
Though all that I can do is all too little.

Enter Gloſter.

Glo. My Lord.
King. My brother Gloſters voice.
Glo. My Lord, the army ſtayes vpon your preſence.
Kin. Stay Gloſter ſtay, and I will go with thee,
The day, my friends, and all things ſtayes for me.

Enter Clarence, Gloſter, Exeter, & Salisbury.

War. My Lords, the French are very ſtrong,
Ex. There's fiue to one, and yet they are all freſh.
War. Of fighting men they haue full forty thouſand.
Sal. The oddes is all too great. Farweli kinde Lords:
Braue Clarence, and my Lord of Gloſter,
My Lord of Warwicke, and to all farewell.
Cla. Farewell kinde Lords, fight valiantly to day.
And yet in truth I do thee wrong,
For thou art made on the true ſparkes of honor.

Enter King.

War. O would we had but ten thouſand men
Now at this inſtant, that doth not worke in England.
Kin. Whoſe that, that wiſhes ſo, my couſen Warwick?
Gods will I would not looſe the honour
One man would ſhare from me,
Not for my kingdome.

No faith my Coſen, wiſh not one man more,
Rather proclaime it preſently through our camp
That he that hath no ſtomacke to this feaſt
Let him depart, his paſport ſhall bee drawne,
And crownes for conuoy put into his purſe,
We would not dye in that mans company,
That feares his fellowſhip to dye with vs.
This day is called the day of Criſpin:
He that out-liues this day, and ſees olde age,
Shall ſtand a tipto when this day is named,
And rowſe him at the name of Criſpin.
He that out-liues this day, and comes ſafe home,
Shall yearly on the vigill feaſt his friends,
And ſay, to morrow is S. Criſpins day:
Then ſhall we in their flowing boules
Be newly remembred. Harry the King,
Bedford and Exeter, Clarence, and Gloſter,
Warwicke, and Yorke,
Familiar in their mouths as houſhold wordes.
This ſtory ſhall the good man tell his ſon,
And from this day vnto the generall doome,
But we in it ſhall be remembred.
We few, we happy few, we bond of brothers,
For he to day that ſheds his blood by mine
Shall be my brother. Be he nere ſo baſe
This day ſhall gentle his condition.
Then ſhal he ſtrip his ſleeues, & ſhew his ſcars,
And ſay, theſe wounds I had on Criſpins day.
And Gentlemen in England now a bed,
Shall thinke themſelues accurſt,
They were not there, when any ſpeakes
That fought with vs vpon S. Criſpines day.
Glo. My gracious Lord,
The French is in the field.
Kin. Why all things are ready if our mindes be ſo.
War. Periſh the man whoſe minde is backward now.

King. Thou doſt not wiſh more helpe from England,
Couſen?
War. Gods will my Liege, would you and I alone,
Without more helpe, might fight this battell out,
Why well ſaid. That doth pleaſe me better,
Then to wiſh me one. You know your charge,
God be with you all.

Enter the Herauld from the French.

Her. Once more I come to know of thee king Henry,
What thou wilt giue for ranſome?
King. Who hath ſent thee now?
Her. The Conſtable of France.
King. I prethee beare my former anſwer backe,
Bid them atchieue me, and then ſell my bones.
Good God, why ſhould they mocke good fellowes thus?
The man that once did ſell the Lyons skin
VVhile the beaſt liued, was kild with hunting him.
And many of our bodies ſhall no doubt
Finde graues, within your Realme of France:
Though buried in your dunghils, we ſhall be famed,
For there the Sunne ſhall greete them,
And draw vp their honors reaking vp to heauen,
Leauing their earthly parts to choake your clime;
The ſmell whereof, ſhall breed a plague in France;
Marke then abundant valour in our Engliſh,
That being dead, like to the bullets craſing,
Breakes foorth into a ſecond courſe of miſchiefe,
Killing in relaps of mortality:
Let me ſpeake proudly,
There's not a peece of feather in our Campe,
Good argument I hope we ſhall not flye,
And time hath worne vs into ſlouendry.
But by the maſſe, our hearts are in the trim,
And my poore ſouldiers tell me, yet ere night

They'l

They'l be in freſher robes, or they will plucke
The gay new cloaths ore your French ſouldiers eares,
And turne them out of ſeruice. If they do this,
As if it pleaſe God they ſhall,
Then ſhall our ranſome ſoone be leuied;
Saue thou thy labour Herauld,
Come thou no more for ranſome, gentle Herauld.
They ſhall haue nought I ſweare, but theſe my bones:
Which if they haue, as I will leaue vm them,
VVill yeeld them little, tell the Conſtable.
Her. I ſhall deliuer ſo.

Exit Herald.

Yorke. My gracious Lord, vpon my knee I craue
The leading of the vaward.
King. Take it braue Yorke.
Come ſouldiers let's away,
And as thou pleaſeſt God, diſpoſe the day. Exit.

Enter the foure French Lords.

Gebon. O diabello.
Con. Mor du ma vie.
Orle. O what a day is this!
Bur. O Iour dei houte all is gone, all is loſt.
Con. VVe are enow yet liuing in the field,
To ſmother vp the Engliſh,
If any order might be thought vpon.
Bur. A plague of order; once more to the field,
And he that will not follow Burbon now,
Let him go home; and with his cap in hand,
Like a baſe leno hold the chamber doore,
VVhy leaſt by a ſlaue no gentler then my dog,
His faireſt daughter is contamuracke.
Con. Diſorder that hath ſpoild vs, right vs now,
Come we in heapes, wee'l offer vp our liues
Vnto theſe Engliſh, or elſe die with fame.

Come

Come, come along,
Lets dye with honor, our shame doth last too long.

Exit omnes

Enter Pistoll, the French man, and the boy.

Pist. Eyld cur, eyld cur.
French. O Monsieur, ie vou en pree aues petie de moy.
Pist. Moy shall not serue, I will haue forty moys.
Boy, aske his name.
Boy. Comant ettes v ous apelles?
Fren. Monsieur Fer.
Boy. He sayes his name is master Fer.
Pist. Ile Fer him, and ferit him, and ferke him,
Boy discusse the same in French.
Boy. Sir I do not know whats French for Fer, ferite, and ferke.
Pist. Bid him prepare, for I will cut his throat.
Boy Feate, vou preat, ill voulles couple votre gorge.
Pist. Onye ma foy couple la gorge,
Vnlesse thou giue to me egregious ransome, dye.

One point of a fox.

Fren. Qui dit ill monsieur,
Ill ditye si vou ny vouly pa domy luy.
Boy. La gran ransome, ill voutueres.
Fren. O ie vous en pri petit gentelhome, parle
A cee, gran Captaine, pour auez mercie
A moy, ey iee donerees pour mon ransome
Cinquante ocios. Ie suyes vngentelhome de France.
Pist. What sayes he boy?
Boy. Marry sir he sayes he is a gentleman of a great
House of France, and for his ransome,
He will giue you 500. Crownes.
Pist. My fury shall abate,
And I the Crownes will take,
And as I sucke blood, I will some mercie shew.

Folow

Follow me cur.

Exit omnes

Enter the King, his Nobles, and Pistoll.

King. What the French retire?
Yet als not done, the French keepes still the field.
Ex. The Duke of Yorke commends him to your Grace.
Kin. Liues he good vnkle, twice I saw him downe,
Twice vp againe:
From helmet to the spur, all bleeding ore.
Exe. In which array, braue souldier doth he lye,
Larding the plaines, and by his bloody side,
Yoake-fellow to his honour-dying wounds,
The Noble Earle of Suffolke also lyes.
Suffolke first dyed, and Yorke all wounded ore
Comes to him where in blood he lay all steept,
And takes him by the beard, kisses the gashes
That bloudily did yawne vpon his face,
And cryed alowd, tarry deere cousin Suffolke:
My soule shall thine keepe company in heauen:
Tarry deere soule awhile, then flye to rest:
And in this glorious and well-foughten field,
We kept togither in our Chiualry:
Vpon these words I came and cheer'd them vp,
He tooke me by the hand, saide deere my Lorde,
Commend my seruice to my Soueraigne,
So did he turne, and ouer Suffolkes necke
He threw his wounded arme, and so espousd to death
With blood he sealed. An argument,
Of neuer-ending loue.
The pretty and sweete manner of it,
Forc'd those waters from me, which I would haue stopte,
But I had not so much of man in me,
But all my mother came into my eyes,
And gaue me vp to teares.
Kin. I blame you not: for hearing you,
I must conuert to teares.

Alarum

Alarum sounds.

VVhat new alarum is this?
Bid euery souldier kill his prisoner.
Pist. Couple gorge. Exit omnes.

Enter Flewellen, and Captaine Gower.

Flew. Godes plud kill the boyes and the lugyge,
Tis the arrants peece of knauery as can be desired
In the worell now, in your conscience now.
Gower. Tis certaine, there's not a boy left aliue,
And the cowardly rascals that ran from the battell,
Themselues haue done this slaughter;
Beside, they haue carried away and burnt
All that was in the Kings Tent:
VVhereupon the king caused euery prisoners
Throat to be cut. Oh he is a worthy King.
Flew. I, he was borne at Monmouth;
Captaine Gower, what call you the place where
Alexander the big was borne?
Gower. Alexander the great.
Flew. VVhy I pray, is not big great?
As if I say, big, or great, or magnanimous,
I hope tis all one reckoning,
Saue the phrase is a little varation.
Gower. I thinke Alexander the great
VVas borne at Macedon,
His father was called Philip of Macedon,
As I take it.
Flew. I thinke it was Macedon indeed
VVhere Alexander was borne:
Looke you Captaine Gower,
And if you looke into the Maps of the worell well,
You shall finde little difference betweene
Macedon and Monmorth. Looke you, there is

A Riuer in Macedon, and there is also a Riuer
In Monmorth, the Riuers name at Monmorth
Is called Wye.
But tis out of my braine what is the name of the other:
But tis all one, tis so like, as my fingers is to fingers,
And there is Samons in both.
Looke you Captaine Gower, and you marke it,
You shall finde our King is come after Alexander,
God knowes, and you know, that Alexander in his
Bowles, and his Ales, and his wrath, & his displeasures
And indignations, was kill his friend Clitus.
Gow. I but our King is not like him in that,
For he neuer kild any of his friends.
Flew. Looke you, tis not well done to take the tale out
Of a mans mouth, ere it is made an end and finished:
I speake in the comparisons, as Alexander is kill
His friend Clitus: so our King being in his ripe
Wits and iudgements, is turne away the fat Knite
With the great belly doublet:
I am forget his name.
Gower. Sir Iohn Falstaffe.
Flew. I, I thinke it is Sir Iohn Falstaffe indeed,
I can tell you, there's good men borne at Monmorth,

Enter the King and his Lords.

King. I was not angry since I came in France,
Vntill this houre.
Take a Trumpet Herauld,
And ride vnto the horsemen on yon hill:
If they will fight with vs, bid them come downe,
Or leaue the field, they do offend our sight.
Will they do neither, we will come to them,
And make them skyr away, as fast
As stones enforc'd from the old Assyrian slings.
Besides, weel cut the throats of those we haue,
And not one aliue shall taste our mercy.

 Enter

Enter the Herald.

Gods will what meanes this? knowst thou not
That we haue fined these bones of ours for ransome?
Her. I come great King for charitable fauour,
To sort our Nobles from our common men,
We may haue leaue to bury all our dead,
Which in the fielde lye spoiled and troden on.
Kin. I tell thee truly Herald,
I do not know whether the day be ours or no:
For yet a many of your French do keepe the field.
Her. The day is yours.
Kin. Praised be God therefore:
What Castle call you that?
Her. We call it Agincourt.
Kin. Then call we this the fielde of Agincourt,
Fought on the day of Crispin, Crispianus.
Flew. Your Grandfather of famous memory,
If your Grace be remembred,
Is do good seruice in France.
King. Tis true Flewellen.
Flew. Your Maiesty sayes very true.
And it please your Maiesty,
The Welshmen there was do good seruice,
In a Garden where Leekes did grow,
And I thinke your Maiesty will take no scorne,
To weare a Leeke in your cap vpon S. Dauies day.
King. No Flewellen, for I am Welsh as well as you.
Flew. All the water in Wye will not wash your welch
Blood out of you. God keepe it, and preserue it,
To his graces will and pleasure.
King. Thankes good Countrey-man.
Flew. By Iesu I am your Maiesties Countryman, (man.
I care not who kno it, so long as your maiesty is an honest
King. God keepe me so. Our Herald go with him,
And bring vs the number of the scattered French,

Exit Heralds

Call

Call yonder souldier hither.
Flew. You fellow, come to the King.
Kin. Fellow, why dost thou weare that gloue in thy hat?
Soul. And please your maiesty, tis a rascalles that swaggard with me the other day: and he hath one of mine, the which if euer I see, I haue sworne to strike him: so hath he the like to mee.
Kin. How thinke you Flewellen, is it lawfull to keep his Oath?
Fl. And it please your Maiesty tis lawful to keep his vow
If he be periur'd once, he is as arrant a beggarly knaue, as treads vpon too blacke shooes.
King. His enemy may be a Gentleman of worth.
Flew. And if he be as good a Gentleman as Lucifer and Belzebub, and the diuell himselfe,
Tis meete he keepe his vow.
King. Well sirrha keepe your word,
Vnder what Captaine seruest thou?
Soul. Vnder Captaine Gower.
Flew. Captaine Gower is a good Captaine,
And hath good litterature in the warres.
Kin. Go call him hither.
Soul. I will my Lord.

Exit souldier.

Kin. Captaine Flewellen, when Alanson and I
Were downe together, I tooke this gloue from's helmet,
Heere Flewellen weare it.
If any challenge it, he is a friend of Alonsons,
And an enemy to me.
Flew. Your Maiesty doth me as great a fauour,
As can be desired in the hearts of his subiects.
I would see that man now that wold challenge this gloue
And it please God of his grace I would but see him,
That is all.
King. Flewellen knowst thou Captaine Gower?
Flew. Captaine Gower is my friend

And if it like your maiesty, I know him very well.
King. Go call him hither.
Flew. I will and it shall please your maiesty.
Kin. Follow Flewellen closely at the heeles,
The gloue he weares, it was the soldiers:
It may be there will be harme betweene them,
For I do know Flewellen valiant,
And being toucht, as hot as Gun-powder:
And quickly will returne an iniury.
Go see there be no harme betweene them.

Enter Captaine Gower, Flewellen, and the Soldier.

Flew. Captaine Gower, in the name of Iesu
Come to his maiesty, there is more good towards you
Then you can dreame of.
Soul. Do you heare, you sir,
Do you know this gloue?
Flew. I know the gloue is a gloue.
Soul. Sir I know this, and thus I challenge it.
He strikes him.
Flew. Gods plut, and his Captaine Gower stand away,
Ile giue treason his due presently.

Enter the King, Warwicke, Clarence, and Exeter.

King. How now? Whats the matter?
Flew. And it shall please your maiesty,
Heere is the notablest peece of treason come to light:
As you shall desire to see in a sommers day.
Heere is a rascall, beggerly rascall is strike the gloue,
Which your maiesty in person
Tooke out of the Helmet of Alanson:
And your maiesty will beare me witnesses,

And testimonies, and auouchments,
That this is the gloue.
Soul. And it please your maiesty,
That was my gloue.
He that I gaue it to in the night,
Promised me to weare it in his hat:
I promised to strike him if he did.
I met that Gentleman with my gloue in's hat,
And I thinke I haue bene as good as my worde.
Flew. Your Maiesty heares,
Vnder your Maiestyes man-hoode,
What a beggerly lowsie knaue it is.
King. Let me see thy gloue.
Looke you, this is the fellow of it.
It was I indeede you promised to strike.
And thou hast giuen me most bitter words,
How canst thou make vs amends?
Flew. Let his necke answer it,
If there be any marshals law in the worell.
Soul. My Liege,
All offences come from the heart:
Neuer came any from mine
To offend your Maiesty.
You appeard to me but as a common man:
Witnesse the night, your garments,
Your lowlinesse; and whatsoeuer
You receiued vnder that habite,
I beseech your maiesty, impute it
To your owne fault, and not to mine.
For your selfe came not like your selfe:
Had you beene as you seemed then to mee,
I had made no offence, my gracious Lord,
Therefore I beseech your grace to pardon me.
Kin. Vnckle, fill the gloue with Crownes,
And giue it to the souldier.
Weare it fellow,

As an honour in thy cap, till I do challenge it.
Giue him the Crownes. Come Captaine Flewellen,
I must needs haue you friends.

Flew. By Iesus, the fellowe hath mettall enough in his belly.
Harke you souldier, There is a filling for you,
And keepe your selfe out of brawles,
And prabbles, and dissentions,
And looke you, it shall be the better for you.

Soul. Ile none of your money sir, not I.

Flew. Why tis a good filling man:
Why should you be queamish?
Your shooes are not so good.
It will serue you to mend your shooes.

Kin. What men of sort are taken vnckle?

Exe. Charles Duke of Orleance, Nephew to the King,
Iohn Duke of Burbon, and Lord Bouchquall.
Of other Lords and Barons, Knights and Squires,
Full fifteene hundred, besides common men.
This note doth tell me of ten thousand
French, that in the fielde lyes slaine.
Of Nobles bearing banners in the fielde,
Charles de le Brute, high Constanble of France,
Iaques of Chatillian, Admirall of France,
The master of the Crosse-bowes, Iohn Duke Alenson,
Lord Rambieres, high Master of France.
The braue sir Gwigzard, Dolphin. Of Nobelle Charillas,
Gran Prie and Rosse, Fawconbridge and Foy,
Gerard and Verton, Vandemant and Lestra.

King. Heeres was a royall fellowship of death,
Where is the number of our English dead?

Exe. Edward the Duke of Yorke, the Earle of Suffolke,
Sir Richard Ketly, Dauy Gam Esquire,
Aud of all the other, but fiue and twenty.

King. O God, thy arme was heere,
And vnto thee alone, ascribe we praise:

When

When without stratageme,
And euen in shocke of battell, was euer heard
So great and little losse, on one part and another?
Take it O God, for it is onely thine.

Exe. Tis wonderfull.

Kin. Come, let vs go on procession through the campe:
Let it be death proclaim'd to any man
To boast heereof, or take the praise from God,
Which is his due.

Flew. Is it lawfull, and it please your Maiesty,
To tell how many is kild?

Kin. Yes Flewellen,
But with this acknowledgement,
That God fought for vs.

Flew. Yes in my conscience, he did vs great good.

kin. Let there be sung Nououes and Te Deum,
The dead with charity enter'd in clay:
Weel then to Calice, and to England then,
Where nere from France, arriu'd more happier men.

Exit omnes.

Enter Gower and Flewellen.

Gower. But why do you weare your Leeke to day?
Saint Dauies is past?

Flew. There is occasion Captaine Gower,
Looke you why, and wherefore:
The other day looke you, Pistolles
Which you know is a man of no merites
In the worell, is come where I was the other day,
And brings bread and salt, and bides mee
Eate my Leeke: twas in a place, looke you,
Where I could moue no dissentions,
But if I can see him, I shall tell him
A little of my desires.

Gow. Heere he comes swelling like a Turky-cocke.

Enter

Enter Pistoll.

Flewellen. Tis no matter for his swelling, and his turkicockes.
God plesse you Ancient Pistoll, you scall,
Beggerly, lowsy knaue, God plesse you.
Pist. Ha, art thou Bedlem?
Dost thou thurst base Troyan,
To haue me folde vp Parcas fatall web?
Hence, I am qualmish at the smell of Leeke.
Flew. Ancient Pistoll.
I would desire you because it doth not agree
With your stomackes, and your appetites,
And your digestions, to eate this Leeke.
Pist. Not for Cadwallader and all his Goats.
Flew. There is one Goate for you, ancient Pistol.

He strikes him.

Pist. Base Troyan, thou shalt dye.
Flewellen. I, I know I shall dye:
But in the meane time, I would desire you
To liue and eate this Leeke.
Gower. Enough Captaine,
You haue astonisht him, it is enough.
Flewel. Astonisht him,
By Iesu, Ile beate his head foure dayes
And foure nights too, but Ile make him
Eate some part of my Leeke.
Pist. Well must I bite?
Flew. I out of question, or doubt, or ambiguities,
You must bite.

He makes Ancient Pistoll bite of the Leeke.

Pistol. Good, good.

Flewel.

Flewellen. I Leekes are good, ancient Pistoll.
Looke you now, there is a filling for you
To heale your bloody coxcombe.
Pist. Me a shilling.
Flew. If you will not take it,
I haue another Leeke for you.
Pist. I take thy shilling in earnest of reckoning.
Flew. If I owe you any thing,
I will pay you in Cudgelles:
You shall be a Wood-monger,
And buy Cudgels. And so God be with you
Ancient Pistoll, God plesse you,
And heale your broken pate.
Ancient Pistoll, if you see Leekes another time,
Mocke at them, that is all: God bwy you.

Exit Flewellen,

Pist. All hell shall stirre for this.
Doth Fortune play the huswife with me now?
Is honour cudgeld from my warlike loynes?
Well France farewell, newes haue I certainly
That Doll is sicke. One malady of France
The warres affoordeth nought, home will I trug,
Baud will I turne, and vse the slight of hand:
To England will I steale,
And there Ile steale:
And patches will I get vnto these scarres,
And sweare I gat them in the Gallia warres.

Exit Pistoll

Enter at one doore, the King of England and his Lords.

And at the other doore, the King of France, Queene Katherine, the Duke of Burbon, and others.

Harry. Peace to this meeting,
Wherefore we are met,
And to our brother France, faire time of day.
Faire health vnto our louely couſin Katherine,
And as a branch, and member of this ſtocke,
We do ſalute you, Duke of Burgundy.
Fran. Brother of England,
Right ioyous are we to behold your face,
So are we Princes Engliſh euery one.
Duke. With pardon vnto your mightineſſe:
Let it not diſpleaſe you, if I demaund
What rub or barre hath thus farre hindred you
To keepe you from the gentle ſpeech of peace?
Har. If Duke of Burgundy you would haue peace,
You muſt buy that peace,
According as we haue drawne our Articles.
Fran. We haue but with a curſorary eye
Ore-view'd them; pleaſeth your Grace,
To let ſome of your Counſell ſit with vs,
We ſhall returne our peremptory anſwer.
Har. Go Lords, and ſit with them,
And bring vs anſwer backe.
yet leaue our couſen Katherine heere behind.
Fran. Withall our hearts.

Exit French King and the Lords.

Manet, king Henry, Katherine, and the Gentlewoman.

Har. Now Kate,
You haue a blunt wooer heere left with you.
If I could winne thee at Leape-frog,
Or with vaulting with my armour on my backe
Into my ſaddle,
Without bragge be it ſpoken,
Ide make compare with any.

But leauing that Kate,
If thou takeſt me now,
Thou ſhalt haue me at the worſt,
And in wearing thou ſhalt haue me better and better,
Thou ſhalt haue a face that is not worth ſun-burning.
But doeſt thou thinke, that thou and I,
Betweene Saint Denis and Saint George,
Shall get a boy, that ſhall go to Conſtantinople,
And take the great Turke by the beard?
Ha, Kate.
Kate. Is it poſſible dat me ſall
Loue de enemy de France.
Harry. No Kate,
It is vnpoſſible you ſhould loue the enemy of France:
For Kate I loue France ſo well,
That Ile not leaue a village,
Ile haue it all mine. Then Kate,
When France is mine,
And I am yours:
Then France is yours,
And you are mine.
Kate. I cannot tell what is dat.
Harry. No Kate,
Why Ile tell you in French,
Which will hang vpon my tongue, like a bride
On her new married husband.
Let me ſee, Saint Dennis be my ſpeede.
Quan France & mon.
Kate. Dat is, when France is yours.
Harry. Et vous ettes amoy.
Kate. And I am to you.
Harry. Douck France ettes a vous.
Kate. Den France ſall be mine.
Harry. Et ie ſuyues a vous.
Kate. And you will be to me.
Har. Wilt beleeue me Kate? Tis eaſier for me

To conquer the kingdome,
Then to ſpeake ſo much more French.
Kate. A your Maieſty
Has falſe France enough, to deceiue
De beſt Lady in France.
Harry. No faith Kate not I.
But Kate prethee tell me in plaine tearmes,
Doſt thou loue me?
Kate. I cannot tell.
Harry. No: Can of any your Neighbours tel,
Ile aske them.
Come Kate, I know you loue me.
And ſoone when you are in your Cloſſet,
Youle queſtion this Lady of me:
But I pray thee ſweet Kate, vſe me mercifully,
Becauſe I loue thee cruelly.
That I ſhall dye Kate, is ſure:
But for thy loue by the Lord neuer.
What wench.
A ſtraight backe will grow crooked,
A round eye will grow hollow,
A great legge will waxe ſmall,
A curld pate prooue bald:
But a good heart Kate is the Sun and the Moon,
And rather the Sun and not the Moone:
And therefore Kate take me,
Take a ſouldier, take a ſouldier,
Take a king:
Therefore tell me Kate, wilt thou haue mee?
Kate. Dat is as pleaſe de king my Father.
Harry. Nay it will pleaſe him,
Nay it ſhall pleaſe him Kate,
And vpon that condition Kate ile kiſſe thee.
Ka. O mon du ie ne voudroy faire quelk choſſe
Pour toute le monde,
Ce ne poynt votree fachion en fauor.

Harry. What ſayes ſhe Lady?
Lady. Dat it is not de faſion in France
For de maides, befor da be married to
May foy ie oblye, what is to baſſie?
Har. To kiſſe, to kiſſe.
O that tis not the faſhion in France
For the maids to kiſſe before they are married.
Lady. O wye ſee votree grace.
Har. Well, weel breake that cuſtome.
Therefore Kate patience perforce and yeelde.
Before God Kate you haue witcheraft
In your kiſſes:
And may perſwade with me more
Then all the French Councell.
Your father is returned.

Enter the Kings of France, and the Lordes.

How now my Lords?
Fran. Brother of England,
We haue ordered the Articles,
And haue agreed to all that we in ſedule had.
Exe. Onely he hath not ſubſcribed this,
Where your Maieſty demands,
That the King of France hauing any occaſion
To write for matter of grant,
Shall name your Highneſſe in this forme:
And with this addition in French,
Noſtre treſher filz, Henry Roy d' Angleterre,
E heare de France. And thus in Latine:
Preclariſſimus filius noſter Henricus Rex Anglia,
Et heres Francia.
Fran. Nor this haue we ſo nicely ſtood vpon,
But you faire brother may intreat the ſame.

Harry. Why then let this among the reſt
Haue his full courſe: And withall,
Your daughter Katherine in marriage.
Fran. This and what elſe
your Maieſty ſhall craue:
God that diſpoſeth all, giue you much ioy.
Har. Why then faire Katherine,
Come giue me thy hand:
Our matriage will we preſent ſolemnize,
And end our hatred by a bond of loue.
Then will I ſweare to Kate, and Kate to me,
And may our vowes once made, vnbroken be.
